Questions of Faith

What how do you create a 'dream' church?

So, what would a dream church look like? Everyone having put aside self to focus on serving others, spending their time in Bible study, meditating on His Word, in prayer, praise and regularly renewed and refreshed at His Table. Everything would be done in humility and bring honor to Christ. Not this side of heaven shall I ever see such, but that does not stop us from progressing towards it.

How can such be created, or at least, be in the process of being created? Love. Ultimately, all of what we seek to find in a church and in God is relationships—in love. The more we put self aside to place others ahead of self, the more we progress towards this picture of heaven here on earth. Pastors can foster this through example, mentoring, teaching, fostering opportunities to show it, but mostly by showing love first—to all and without reservation. When a climate of love is present, then love is multiplied and a sense of community is created. What a joy to experience this here on earth.
